THE BREVITY BASKET.

Filled With Brief Mention of Many Minor Events of Yesterday.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Robert Brown and Hannah Johnson; George Green and Ella Bowie.

There will be no services except Sunday school at the Universalist church, Thirteenth and L streets, on Sunday.

The remains of the late Maud Acton were interred in the potter's field, but in the Methodist Episcopal cemetery, near the almshouse.

George Cruikshanks, a colored sailor who arrived in a vessel at the wharves, became dangerously sick with the measles and was yesterday given a permit to go to the Free-Love hospital. Isaac Bird, Eliza Delaney, Bettie Addison, and Ellen Blackstone were also given permits to go to the Freedman's hospital, being sick and destitute.

The Washington City Bible society has been very fortunate in securing the Rev. Dr. A. B. Jack, of Hazleton, Pa., to deliver the annual address this year. Dr. Jack is one of the finest speakers in the country. His address in Boston was received with the greatest enthusiasm. The address will be delivered at the Congregational church next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon Thomas R. Vessey, a bricklayer residing at 1010 Sixteenth street northwest, and employed on the new armory building of the National Rifles, on G, between Ninth and Tenth streets, fell from a ladder in the second story now in process of erection, breaking his collar-bone. Dr. J. Bigelow was sent for, and, upon examination, stated that no internal injuries had been sustained. The injured man was conveyed home.

TAYLOR & HUFTY, 933 Pennsylvania Avenue.

The approach of warm weather leads many a mother to look with dismay at the wardrobe of her family and to despair of ever getting "the sewing done." They would save their strength and fit the family out with the well-made, stylish, and cheap garments sold in such quantities by Taylor & Hufty.

THE COMMISSIONERS.

Current Transactions at the Various District Offices.

Wall, to make repairs at 1629 L street northwest, to cost $250; Frank Naisius, to make repairs at 220 D street northwest, to cost $500.

The commissioners have refused to grant the request of the National Jockey club to swing a race across Pennsylvania Avenue, near Third street.

In reply to a citizen who asked that shade trees be placed on Nineteenth street, between the Columbia road, the commissioners have notified him that shade trees will be planted on all thoroughfares if necessary.

The commissioners have affirmed the decision of their predecessors in disallowing the claim of W. S. Graham for work done under the old board of health.

The commissioners have notified a citizen that no liens will be accepted in payment of assessments.

The commissioners have granted a permit to lay a main pipe on Rhode Island Avenue between New Jersey Avenue and the boundary. Proposals will be advertised for in a short time for furnishing a new fire engine.

SICK HEADACHE.

Mr. J. C. Henderson, of Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "The use of two of Pierce's 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets' a day, for a few weeks, has entirely cured me of sick headache, from which I formerly suffered terribly, as often, on an average, as once in ten days." Of all druggists.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, matinee Fiske Jubilees 2 p. m.

The executive committee of the National Jockey club have decided to admit the inmates of the soldiers' home to the races at Ivy City without charge.

There are at present seventy-five horses at the track, and a large number of additional arrivals are expected to-day and to-morrow.

The indications point to the most successful meeting ever held by the Jockey club, which is rapidly increasing in membership, fifteen new members having been enrolled.

All the preliminary arrangements are being perfected by the committee, and among other things which will be carefully attended to will be the exclusion of all improper characters from the grounds. A good detective force will be employed to look after this matter.

ANGOSTRA BITTERS were prepared by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert for his private use. Their reputation is such to-day that they have become generally known as the best appetizing tonic. Beware of counterfeits. Ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article, manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

Although there is a general complaint from merchants on account of the backwardness of the season we have found it necessary to replenish and duplicate a good number of lots already, as we charge no fancy prices for our clothing, and the public appreciate honest goods. ARRANGING THE EVIDENCE.

Continuation of Col. Bliss' Argument in the Star Route Trial—Questions by the Jurors—The End Approaching.

Mr. Bliss began the fifth day of his address to the jury in the star route trial yesterday morning. In speaking of S. W. Dorsey, Mr. Bliss asserted that the proof was conclusive that he engaged in the mail business while in the senate, and that the whole scheme had originated in his fertile brain. When he had spent as much money as he could afford, Vail had been taken in to furnish further capital.

The evidence was quoted at length to sustain this allegation.

Mr. Bliss continued his address after the recess, devoting himself more particularly to the testimony relating directly to the routes and the affidavits. Naturally a rapid and voluminous speaker, his voice began to show signs of fatigue. Throughout the day the jury frequently interrupted Mr. Bliss to put questions concerning obscure points of evidence, and this necessarily prolonged his address.

Foreman Crane at one time interrupted to inquire why John Dorsey sent two affidavits concerning one route to Kendall upon the same day. Mr. Bliss promptly answered that John Dorsey's statement upon that point was a lie, and the evidence showed it. Just before the court adjourned Mr. Bliss apologized to the jury for the length of his address, saying that he had shown such interest that he felt it necessary to go into certain subjects in greater depth than he had intended. If the court would adjudge he believed that he could finish within a short time Monday morning.

The foreman of the jury rose and objected to an adjournment until Saturday. He said the jury had been in court over five months—one-seventh of an average human life time, his business had been drifting along like a ship without a rudder, and moreover he feared that if the trial were spun out much further it would be brought to a close by the death or sickness of some of the jury. Judge Wylie assured Mr. Crane that the trial was nearer an end than he imagined. He believed that the present good health of the jury was owing in a degree to the rest afforded by the adjournments over Saturday. Rees Evans, another juror, wished Mr. Bliss to proceed. He was willing to listen until 10 o'clock at night if necessary. Mr. Bliss regarded the request as a compliment. He was tired, and desired to catch the afternoon train for New York.

Mr. Wilson requested Mr. Bliss to correct an erroneous impression in regard to Turner, conveyed by a remark in the course of his address. Mr. Merriek sharply replied that the counsel could defend Turner if they chose to make an argument. Mr. Bliss, however, promised to read the passage in question when the court reassembled on Monday, and an adjournment was had.

THE latest news from Africa is that the Zulu King has the croup; this news is doubted by many, but, notwithstanding, the friends of the Zulu have sent him a case of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and consequently know his cure is certain.

Alabama Claims.

The court of commissioners of Alabama claims yesterday heard the closing argument on the question of the right of British subjects to recover in that court. Messrs. Manning and Risley argued the question on behalf of the claimants, and Mr. Walker Bliss on behalf of the respondent. The court took the question under advisement and adjourned till Monday.
